Health Information Collected

INTUNE MIND AND BODY complies with the Health Privacy Principles and the ethical guidelines of the Australian Counselling Association in the collection, use and disclosure of all health information and to ensure that it is kept confidential.

INTUNE MIND AND BODY may collect your health information when you attend the practice and/or at any other time from time-to-time in the course of providing counselling services.

Your information may be collected for, but is not limited to, the following reasons:

- as it is required for the provision of counselling and/or Pilates services, including recording your personal information and health information as relevant to your current situation for the purposes of providing therapeutic intervention, writing reports and summaries.
- only as essential for the provision of counselling services, or as otherwise in accordance with your consent, or as may be required by law.
- only from you (or from someone authorised by you with your written consent)
- in accordance with the code of ethics set out by the Australian counselling Association.
- with accuracy, on the basis that you may at any time request a copy of the health information that INTUNE MIND AND BODY has collected by emailing us at hello@intunemindandbody.com.au (subject always to applicable law) and where our records are found to be inaccurate, we will rectify any inaccuracies on the basis of the further information you provide.

Access, Updates and Complaints

INTUNE MIND AND BODY will provide you with access to your personal and health information that has been collected, subject to any legal exceptions, at your written request. Please also let us know if you have any concerns, questions or complaints so that INTUNE MIND AND BODY can address them promptly for you, by sending an email to hello@intunemindandbody.com.au. Where our records are found to be inaccurate, INTUNE MIND AND BODY will promptly correct any inaccuracies on the grounds of updated information that you provide.
